Sontia appoints Giles Hutchison

PRESS RELEASE: 15th January 2009

Sontia Logic Limited announced today the appointment of Giles Hutchison to assist in Business Development.

Giles, 44, has joined Sontia's business development team. Giles has twenty years experience in technology development and its commercial exploitation including; directing software and hardware development teams, authoring of commercial agreements including technology licensing, sales and partnership agreements.

As founder of Reciva Limited, the world's leading Internet Radio technology company, Giles is experienced at bringing consumer electronics products to market, from inception through to final boxed product. He has licensed and manufactured products in high volume in Asia and the UK. Giles was Founder and Commercial Director at Nexus Electronics Ltd, the Electronics and Software design consultancy, which he grew and sold to FutureTV Limited, a world leader in video-on demand systems.

Giles holds an Honours degree in Physics with Solid-State Electronics from Exeter University.

Giles commented "As an audiophile myself, I am convinced Sontia's differentiated solution is compelling when compared with the competition. I am looking forwards to supporting the team in taking the Sontia products to new markets".

Chris Vernon, founder and CEO stated "Giles's experience in licensing the Reciva Internet radio hardware and software into the market will be invaluable to us in the period ahead. I look forwards to working with, and learning from, him."
