Sontia appoints Sir Robin Saxby to Advisory Board

PRESS RELEASE: 15th May 2009

Sontia Logic Limited is delighted to announce the appointment of Sir Robin Saxby to its newly-created advisory Board, to join Dr Hermann Hauser.

Sir Robin Saxby, ex-Chairman of ARM, the world-leading silicon IP licensing company, whose partners shipped more than 4 billion chips in 2008, read electronics at Liverpool University and is an Hon FIET and FREng.

He joined Rank Bush Murphy to design chips for TV receivers as his first job and after spells with ES2, Motorola and Henderson Security Systems, was headhunted to co-found ARM in early 1991 as a joint venture by Apple, Acorn and VLSI . He was its CEO until 2001.

He has also served on the Open Microprocessor Initiative Advisory Group, is a Visiting Professor at the University of Liverpool and has received honorary doctorates from the Universities of Liverpool, Loughborough and Essex. He holds the Faraday Medal of the IET where he is a member of council and served as a trustee and past President.

Mark Bernstein, Chairman, stated; "Sir Robin built ARM from a technology licensor startup in Cambridge, UK, into a FTSE 100 company. He knows more about technology licensing than virtually anyone in Europe. and he's an audiophile to boot! Sir Robin's involvement both as an advisor and a shareholder will prove to be a massive strength in the period ahead as we establish our global licensing operation".

Sir Robin commented "Sontia has developed some exciting solutions. I am looking forwards to assisting Chris Vernon and Mark as best I can, to realise similar ambitions to those that I held when we created ARM".
